

Eliminate & Delegate so you can Dominate!

1. What kind of time-suckers are you most aware of in your day-to-day activities?

Some examples to consider:

Television, electronic games, social media, commuting during peak traffic times, reading for entertainment.

2. Participate in a temporary fast from these activities to gauge the impact they have on your available time and to dominate tasks that you've determined will take priority during this season of life.

3. What types of daily chores and activities can you easily delegate? These activities do not need your personal touch or attention.

Some examples to consider:

Housework, cooking, bookkeeping, shopping, and errands

4. Consider delegating these activities to gauge the impact they have on your available time and to dominate tasks that you've determined will take priority during this season of life.

Completing this worksheet is your written commitment to eliminate, delegate & dominate - at least on a temporary basis for this season of serving the Lord.
